BRITISH JUNGLE TROOPS HAVE SEIZED INITIATIVE AND SMASH AT JAPANESE

ATLANTIC SUBMARINE HUNT REDOUBLED AS MORE SHIPS BLASTED

ADDED RESPONSIBILITY OF PROTECTING WESTERN HEMISPHERE FACES US NAVY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The Navy rushed its Atlantic submarine hunt today with the added responsibility of protecting sea lanes of the entire hemisphere, now united against the axis in a solid diplomatic front.

Announcement of the intention of all American Republics to break off relations with the axis powers raised the possibility that the considerable land and naval forces of South and Central America would be joined together to guard vital hemisphere commerce against any attack. New enemy submarine successes along the Atlantic coast demonstrated the urgent need of guarding ships until a mass convoy plan could be worked out.

The navy's disclosure that the 5,269-ton freighter City of Atlanta had been sunk and the 3,799-ton Latvian steamer Ciltvaira had been attacked and probably sunk brought to six the list of German submarine victims from Jan. 14 through Jan. 19. Four of the six ships were known to have gone to the bottom, and the total of dead or missing crewmen rose to 75.

Ship Sinks Quickly.

Attacked off the Carolina coast Monday, the City of Atlanta sank so fast there was no time to launch lifeboats. Later the same day, the Ciltvaira, torpedoed amidships was abandoned by her crew in a flooded and sinking condition. Forty-six seamen were missing in the two attacks which were announced as soon as the 33 survivors had reached port.

The navy was silent on details of the Atlantic hunt, and likewise had no new announcements on progress of sea fighting in the Pacific theater.

The army hailed a new hero of the Philippine struggle. A communique told how Thomas J. H. (Trap) Trapnell, former West Point football star and now a cavalry major, disregarded concentrated Japanese fire and set a bridge aflame with his own hands to delay enemy pursuit of his retreating troops at Rasario in the Lingayen Gulf area Dec. 22. Trapnell was awarded a distinguished service cross for the exploit.

News that Argentina and Chile finally had swung into line with the 19 other American republics in a declaration of intention to sever diplomatic relations with the axis was received with relief in Washngton.

BRITISH, AUSTRALIAN AND INDIAN SOLDIERS BATTLING JAPANESE

By C. YATES M'DANIEL

WITH THE BRITISH FORCES ON THE MALAYAN FRON8, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Going after big game, British, Australian and Indian soldiers fought furiously today so smash the spearhead of the entire forces the Japanese have moved into the Muar river district in the last few days.

British artillery began the engagement yesterday afternoon and infantrymen immediately advanced to attack the strongly reinforced Japanese army which was threatening the western flank of the Imperial defenses in northern Johoe state.

The Empire troops also were anxious to relieve the remnants of two Australian and one Indian battalion cut off for three days below the Muar river, 70 miles north of Singapore.

The action by which the British command hopéd to dislodge the Japanese from strong positions in Northern Johore, were the battle brobobly will be decided, was planned under the shade of a rubber tree.

Generals sat on the ground around maps in a council of war.

Japanese planes were overhead almost the entire time, but there were no interruptions of the deliberations.

While the generals bent over their maps—their aides stood by with loaded Tommy guns and dispatch riders came and went.

Across the road a detachment of

MEMBER ARGENTINE DELEGATION RAISED OBJECTION PHRASE

AMERICAN BREACH OF RELATIONS WITH AXIS POWERS MAY NOT BE UNANIMOUS

By HENRY BAGLEY

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Jan. 22.—(AP)—A member of Argentina's delegation to the Pan-American conference raised an 11th hour objection today to the turn of an important phrase in the draft resolution for unanimous American breach of relations with the axis—a point which cast a shadow on previously indicated unanimity.

The Argentine foreign minister and head of that country's delegation Enrique Ruiz Guinazu, meanwhile, said he approved the idea of breaking off relations "in principle" but added that the delegation was awaiting final word from Buenos Aires.

A member of the delegation said his group would seek two modifications in the text of the agreement this afternoon.

The first change would be to drop the word "collective" at the end of article four to make the resolution say that consultation be held before any resumption of axis relations thus to establish that the decision is merely "unanimous" and not collective. Other conferees are expected to agree to this.

But the other objection, a proposal to change the wording of key article three, was expected to produce a fight.

As article three stands it would have the American republics declare that they "cannot continue diplomatic relations with Japan, Germany and Italy x x ."

The Argentines proposed to change the Spanish text on "cannot continue"—"no podran continuar"—to "Podrain no continuar" which freely translated means, "perhaps will not be able."

SOVIET OFFENSIVE CONTINUES TO GAIN ALONG WHOLE FRONT

GERMANS REPORTED EXHAUSTING EVERY READY RESOURCE TO STEM RETREAT

By ROBERT MAGIDOFF

MOSCOW, Jan. 22.—(AP)—While Red Army artillerymen blasted at the rear of a German army reeling back from Mozhaisk on the old Napoleon road from Moscow, dispatches from the northern and southern wings of the 2,000-mile front told of the continuing, forward surge of the Russian offensive.

The front reports indicated that the Germans were exhausting every ready resource in manpower in an effort to stabilize the vast front.

Among prisoners taken in one sector were soldiers just arrived from France who said they came to Smolensk by train and were carried thence by plane to a point the Russians identified as "R" to help the Germans to make a stand.

The Moscow newspaper Pravda said that in the Volkhov sector of the Leningrad front the Germans were bringing in wornout detachments from other sectors in their desperation.

Plebiscite to Be Held Conscription Canadian Troops

OTTAWA, Jan. 22.—(AP)—A Canadian plebiscite on raising troops by conscription for overseas service was announced today at the opening of parliament.

The plebiscite was announced in the speech from the throne read by the Earl of Athlone, Governor General of Canada, who said the government would ask to be released "from any obligations arising out of past commitments restricting the raising of men for military service."

The "past commitments" referred to the pledge Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King gave in the House of Commons before the war that his administration never would initiate legislation to compel Canadians to fight outside of Canada.

At present Canadian men are subject to call by classes for compulsory military training and home service, but only volunteer units may be sent outside the country.

LOCATION OF GAS, RUBBER PLANTS IN TEXAS DISCUSSED

BECKWORTH CONFERS WITH JESSE JONES ON SEVERAL POSSIBILITIES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Factors the government will take into consideration in selecting sites for the location of plants of manufacture 100 octane aviation gasoline and synthetic rubber were discussed today by Rep. Beckworth (Dem.) of Texas, who has urged establishment of such projects in his East Texas congressional district.

As far back as last August Beckworth was in touch with federal authorities concerned with synthetic rubber and aviation gas production, pointing to the advantages of the East Texas fields.

Continuing a series of conferences, the young congressman several days ago took the matter up with Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones. Not many of the employes under Secretary Jones were still there as the two Texans discussed late in the evening the subject which so definitely concerns their state. Earlier in the day Beckworth discussed the matter up with Undersecretary of War Robert Patterson.

Commitments were neither forthcoming nor expected in these conferences, Beckworth said, observing he had simply submitted the advantages to be had in locating industries of this category in his area.

Primary among these advantages is the abundance of oil in East Texas, he said. Important also is the fact that a plant located in East

BUILDING OF ALLIED SHIPPING OUTSTRIPS LOSSES BY SINKING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Chairman Land of the Maritime commission has told congress that construction of allied shipping is now forging ahead of losses by sinkings at sea and that the United States has "the world licked right now" on standard cargo ships and tankers.

Reporting on the progress of the program for a vast mechant marine before a house appropriations sub-committee in testimony made public today, Land asserted:

"The last time I looked at the curves, the sinkings and the new production were just about balanced for the first time during the war, and now new construction is getting ahead."

That was on Dec. 9. He reported that United States merchant marine tonnage was about 7,000,000 and that a total of 12,000,000 more tons was in prospect for 1942 and 1943. On the other hand, he said that Great Britain started with about 21,000,000 tons, lost about 9,000,000 tons and at the same time had additions of about 5,000,000 tons.

But axis powers have lost about 14,00,000 tons, he estimated, and all world shipping losses amount to about 27 per cent of the 52,000,000 tons available at the outset of the war.

After saying that United States and Great Britain had made placements of about 1,500,000 tons each annually, land asserted:

"On replacements, the axis powers are not having much luck. x x As to exact figures I know nothing about it."

Optimistic Report.

The rear admiral gave the committee an optimistic progress report on the merchant marine program involving 1,422 ships, of which 99 have been contracted for and 423 will be ordered before July 1.

Except for such bottlenecks as strikes and machinery and generating power, Land said that "very good to excellent" progress had been made.

"The only serious difficulty has been strikes," he said. "Up to about two months ago, we had some 'velvet' but we lost the most of that due to strikes. We are still ahead of schedule, but not quite up to the expected schedule which we were last August—thanks to strikes."

ANTI-AXIS DIPLOMATIC FRONT OF AMERICAN REPUBLICS MAY BE GREATEST THING COME OUT WAR

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst.

The anti-axis diplomatic front achieved among the American republics in conference at Rio De Janeiro may prove in the long run to be a bigger thing than the world war which brought it about, for we have here the beginnings of what might easily develop into a permanent politico-economic solidarity of all the states of the Western Hemisphere.

There we should have the counterpart of the United States of Europe which allied statesmen have been discussing anew as a post-war possibility for the rehabilitation of an old world which is in a state if chaos that steadily grows worse. Should these two dreams be achieved, the great unions could then cooperate in plans for universal peace and plenty and thus carry out the work for which the League of Nations was conceived but failed to achieve.

It is hard to believe that the American republics ever will abandon their new-found solidarity, once they have inaugurated the vast war production plan of the United States for the Western Hemisphere. That plan strikes much deeper than the war, since it provides for such far-reaching changes as abolition of all trade barriers, the establishment of a common currency among all anti-axis nations and the inauguration of great international harbor, canal and highway projects.

This gesture of the United States, by which she flings all her resources into the defense of the entire hemisphere, cannot but help dispel any suspicions which might still linger in other American republics that we harbor selfish intentions as regards our neighbors. In the past there has been an unwillingness on the part of some South American states to enhance our power in the southern continent.

Then there has been the heavy clash of trade interests, as in the case of the Argentine which, like the United States, has wheat, corn and meat surpluses. However, the sweeping reorganization of Western Hemisphere

JAPANESE INVASION AUSTRALIAN SECTOR BELIEVED UNDER WAY

NEW BRITAIN CAPITAL REPORTS MANY SHIPS SIGHTED, THEN COMMUNICATION ENDS

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Rabaul, capital of New Britain, reported today that eleven ships, including warships, had been sighted off neighboring Watom Island, and immediately following this report communications with Rabaul ceased.

It was presumed here that New Britain Island had been evacuated by military forces in anticipation of a prospective Japanese landing.

The last word from Rabaul came at 4 p. m. (1 a. m. E. E. E..)

If the implications of the Rabaul message are fulfilled the Japanese are in the process of their first invasion of Australian territory. The island of New Britain, of which Rabaul is capital, is mandated to Australia and is an important segment of the Bismarck Archipelago.

New Britain lies east of British New Guinea and is 800 miles northeast of the nearest point of Australia proper, that is, Cape York Peninsula. Rabaul is 1,860 nautical miles from Sndney, on the southeast coast of the subcontinent.

Before Rabaul flashed the report of the approaching fleet, Japanese planes raided the city, in a continuation of assaults on the islands around New Guinia.

(An Australian broadcast recorded in New York by the Australian Associated Press said it now was believed likely the Japanese would try to effect landings on Friday.)

Acting Prime Minister Francis M. Forde and Air Minister Arthur Brakeford warned Australians that a full-scale military attack may be imminent, aimed at establishing bases from which the Japanese could direct an offensive against the Australian mainland.

Drakeford, saying that "we must prepare ourselves for any eventuality," predicted earlier in the day that the Japanese landing attempt might be made today, and said it was obvious the enemy forces in the Bismarck Archipelago included more than one aircraft carrier supported by other naval units and land-based planes.

Forde, the army minister who is acting for Prime Minister John Curtin during the latter's brief vacation, told the people of Australia that "the time has arrived when the government expects every Australian man and woman to take up his or her place, whether at work in the munitions factories or in Australia's fighting services.

Acting Prime Minister Francis M. Forde said Rabaul had undergone two air attacks today and that Japanese aircraft also had raided the Solomon Islands, southeast of New Britain.

The Japanese flotilla was sighted 30 to 40 miles off Watom Island, which is 15 miles northwest of Rabaul, about half an hour before the Rabaul radio sent its last message.

It was assumed here that the radio and telegraph stations had been demolished by British forces before evacuation in pursuance of a scorched earth policy.

EPISCOPAL BISHOP WANTS INVASION OF GERMANY AND BERLIN

BISHOP HARRY T. MOORE SAYS CAN'T DRAW LINE BETWEEN HITLER AND PEOPLE

(By The Associated Press.)

Invasion of Germany and capure of Berlin "that the German people may know and feel the mening of invasion," is the expressed hope of Bishop Harry T. Moore.

In an address to the 47th annual convention of the Dallas Episcopal Diocese, the Bishop said:

"I have no patience with those who would draw a line between Mr. Hitler and the German people. The German people chose Hitler. They would be happy to see him and his principles victorious. The German people must be whipped and whipped thoroughly.

"I further hope that Japan and its people will be made to suffer much of the devastation their armies have visited upon an innocent China. I hope her cities will be made into masses of ruins and the massacre of Pearl Harbor avenged on a ten-for-one basis."

Bishop Moore said he wished for a peace of Christian brotherhood after the "whipping has been finished."

Other developments in Texas:

Construction of about 5,000 defense housing units in the northeast Texas district may result from liberal loan regulations given building industry representatives by federal housing officials.

The regulations would allow FHA to make loans up to the full cost of the house instead of its replacement value and the sale of such houses to defense workers

NELSON IS GIVING WAR PRODUCTION JOB BACK TO COUNTRY

SHORT CUTS TO ELIMINATE DELAYS CAUSED BY PAPER WORK BEING TAKEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Washington awoke today to the realization that Donald M. Nelson is giving the war production job back to the whole country.

Nelson's announcement that he intended to establish a field service as a seventh and new major division of the war production board which he heads was regarded here as a step toward decentralizing the war effort.

Officials said such a move, sending WPB men into the industrial centers of the country where the battle of the assembly lines is being fought, would shortcut a great part of the delays caused by paper work and letter-writing and by the necessity of calling manufacturers to Washington to discuss production and conversion problems.

Nelson said he had not yet decided "how much responsibility will be here and how much out in the field." However, the high place accorded the proposed field service in his organization scheme was taken as clear indication that he intended to delegate to it a good share of the decision-making power heretofore reserved for Washington alone.

Field Division.

The field division will compare in importance, Nelson said, with the six major divisions of WPB set up by him yesterday, when he abolished the office of production management—production, purchases, materials, labor, civilian supply and industrial organization.

The field offices will handle not only the job of bringing small plants all over the country into the military arsenal, but will advise contractors on priorities, allocations of material "or anything else that pertains to getting the job done," Nelson told newsmen yesterday.

Nelson's theory of decentralizing control is getting its first big test in Detroit, where Ernest Kanzler, veteran automobile production man, is being sent with a staff to achieve the total conversion of the motor industry to arms production.

Not All Have Same Power.

There will be a counterpart of Kanzler in every important industry, Nelson said, and he estimated their number of fifty or sixty.

Not all the industry chieftains will have as much power as Nelson vested in Kanzler—"all the authority that I've got"—because not all of them will need it, Nelson said. Kanzler is authorized to move tools and machines from one motor company to another, if necessary to get maximum arms output.

William S. Knudsen and Sidney Hillman, erstwhile co-directors of the now defunct OPM, will continue to play important through separate roles.

Nelson said he wanted them added to the new war production board, and his wish was viewed as tantamount to command, in view of the sweeping powers granted him by President Roosevelt.

OVER TWO BILLION DOLLARS CARRIED IN APPROPRIATION BILL

NEARLY BILLION OF THIS AMOUNT EARMARKED FOR SHIPBUILDING PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—A $2,096,138.875 supply bill for independent agencies of the government in the next fiscal year carrying $984,410,800 for the shipbuilding program of the maritime commission wen to the house today from its appropriations committee.

The total was about $5,000,000 less than President Roosevelt's budget recommendations and $1,257,899,349 under comparable appropriations for this fiscal year. But the committee said that subsequent supplemental funds probably would offset that apparent reduction.

The committee reported that on Jan. 1, the maritime commission had contracted for construction of 968 vessels and had made other awards for which contracts had not actually been let. Chairman Land of the commission told the committee Dec. 9 that 999 ships had been contracted for and contracts would be let for 423 more before June 30.

Radio Monitoring Station.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Establishment of a radio monitoring station at Kingsville, Texas, is planned by the federal communications commission, according to a statement submitted to a congressional committee during hearings on the independent offices appropriation bill introduced today in the house.

The station would serve the south central part of the United States. A suboffice monitoring station would be operated at Beaumont, Texas, to accomodate greatly increased marine activity in the Sabine area, it was further pointed out.

Monitoring stations police the airways to see that broadcast sta-

RUSSIANS CONTINUE PURSUIT OF GERMAN RETREATING ARMIES

BRITISH ORGANIZING GREAT FORCE FOR CONTINENTAL OFFENSIVE OPERATIONS

(By The Associated Press.)

Russian snow troops advancing on propellor-driven sledges were reported late today to have hurled Adolf Hitler's retreating armies beyond Borodino, 12 miles west of fallen Mozhaisk, amid the bitterest cold of the Soviet winter so far.

Racing over waist-deep snow, the Red Army forces were slashing fiercely at the flanks of the Nazi withdrawal toward Vyazma, where the Germans are expected to attempt their next stand against the Russian counter-offensive.

Meanwhile, in London, Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair disclosed that the British army now was organizing "the greatest possible striking force for offensive operations on the European continent."

Sinclair gave no indication whether a British counter-invasion was imminent. London newspapers and other critics for weeks have been clamoring for action, and British officials have frequently mentioned the restiveness of the 2,000,000 army regulars and 2,000,000 home guards long held in readiness to combat any attack on the island kingdom itself.

On the North African front, British troops who had swept more than 300 miles across the Libyan Desert in pursuit of Gen. Erwin Rommel's armies met their first setback in the two-months-old counteroffensive.

Cairo headquarters acknowledged that three strong axis columns made a ten-mile "reconnaissance in force" into British positions yesterday below Mersa Brega, a coastal town on the Gulf of Sirte,

COMPROMISE SOUGHT IN PRICE CONTROLS LEGISLATIVE JAM

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Senators Lee (Dem.) of Oklahoma, and O'Mahoney (Dem.) of Wyoming, contended on the senate floor today that senate amendments written into the price control bill at the behest of farm bloc members would help rather than hinder the war effort if they became law.

The discussion was touched off by Lee, who said newspaper reports indicated that a joint house-senate committee, seeking a compromise version of the bill, had about decided to abandon an amendment by O'Mahoney which permit farm price ceilings to rise with urban wages.

Lee contended that the O'Mahoney amendment was "necessary to maintain and increase production."

"For the government to allow a fair price for agricultural commodities," he said, "will not only not hinder the war effort, but will actually help the war effort.

"The O'Mahoney amendment, if agreed to, will help win the war."

He added that parity prices as now defined, based on 1909-1914 levels, did not constitute a fair return for the farm.

O'Mahoney said the purpose of the senate farm amendments was "to help the administration increase the supply."

"It is well-known," he added, "that when the supply is increased there is very little chance of an an increase in prices."

Three-Way Compromise.

Senators were pressing for a three-way compromise on the legislation.

The compromise admittedly involved some concessions by the house, by the senate, and by President Roosevelt as the joint congressional committee trying to adjust conflicting interests resumed closed sessions.

Senators walked out of the joint conference yesterday explaining

Sgt. Lester Thurston, son of Mrs. J. H. Thurston, 307 South Twentieth street, is reported in a hospital on the Island of Java, East Indies, from wounds received in action several weeks ago.

A card was received Wednesday, written Dec. 14, stating the wounds were not serious. He left the mainland for the Philippines in November, it was stated.

REINFORCEMENTS OF HURRICANE FIGHTER PLANES IN ACTION

ANOTHER MAJOR DEVELOPMENT FAR EAST FORECASTS EARLY INVASION AUSTRALIA

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor.

British jungle troops, seizing the initiative for the first time in the Malayan campaign, were reported smashing at Japan's main invasion armies in a full-scale counter-offensive 70 miles north of Singapore today while reinforcements of 350-mile-an-hour Hurricane fighters swung into action over Singapore itself.

The newly-arrived Hurricanes, single seaters with the greatest fire-power punch of any plane of its type, are equipped either with 12 machineguns or four light cannon and machineguns.

Another major development in the flaming Pacific conflict apparently bore out fears that an invasion of Australia may be imminent.

A broadcast from Rabaul oft-bombed capital of Australian-mandated New Britain flashed word that a flotilla of eleven Japanese ships had been sighted off nearby Watom Island, and immediately after this report communications with Rabaul ceased.

Observers in Melbourne said it was presumed that military forces had already evacuated New Britain which lies only 800 miles northeast of Australia in anticipation of a Japanese landing.

The Japanese flotilla was sighted 30 to 40 miles off Watom Island which is 15 miles northeast of Rabaul half an hour before Rabaul radio sent its last message at 4 p. m. 1(a. m. EST)

Scorched Earth Policy.

It was believed that the radio and telegraph stations had been destroyed by British forces before evacuation in line with a "scorched earth" policy.

On the Philippine battlefront, a war department bulletin said that Japanese troops on Luzon Island — already estimated to number 200,000—were being reinforced and that invaders were again heavily attacking Gen. Douglas MacArthur's fiery defenders.

The communique reported seaborne Japanese troops were being landed in Lingayen Gulf, 110 miles north of Japanese-held Manila, and in Subic Bay, near the approaches to Batan Peninsula.

As evidence of the toughness of Gen. MacArthur's little band, the entire Japanese 14th army and a number of other units were officially reported now operating on Luzon Island.

"The Japanese are renewing their attacks all along Gen. MacArthur's line on the Batan Peninsula," the War Department said.

"Particularly heavy fighting is in progress on the left and the center."

Crucial Test in Progress.

In Malaya, it seemed apparent that a crucial test in the struggle for Singapore was in progress.

Behind the lines, British fliers claimed a heavy toll of Japanese transport columns north of Parti Bulong, destroying many vehicles and machine-gunning troops.

Singapore itself, under almost incessant aerial assault, grimly counted a toll of 304 killed and 725 wounded in yesterday's 100-plane Japanese attack — comparatively surpassing the worst raids on London at the height of the blitz.

A communique said 625 wounded were admitted to hospitals and 100 others treated at first-aid posts.

But the beleaguered island colony was cheered by the arrival of powerfully-gunned Hurricane pursuit fighters, and when 30 Japanese warplanes roared over Singapore again today RAF fliers were credited with shooting down five bombers and damaging a fighter.

Japanese Fear Bombings.

Coincidentally, a Chinese army spokesman reported that fear of attack by allied bombers had spurred 30,000 to 40,000 Japanese to leave parts of Japan for Shanghai and other centers along the lower Yangtze valley.

In the Dutch East Indies, where Japan's far-flung invasion hordes are striking in heavy force, the Dutch announced they had completely destroyed the great oil wells and oil plants at Balik Papan on the East coast of Dutch Borneo.

Balik Papan is about 175 miles below Tarakan island, off the northeast coast of Borneo, where the Japanese gained their first foothold in the Indies.

Destruction of the oil field was carried out "in view of the clearly distinguished Japanese intention to attack Balik Papan with superior forces in order to get hold of the important oil wells," it was announced.

With the Japanese threatening to overrun the whole vast Pacific war theater, even Australia, Batavia announced that United States fortress bombers had now arrived in the Dutch East Indies and had sunk a Japanese cruiser and set fire to a 10,000-ton Japanese tanker 100 miles south of Jolo Island, in the southern Philippines. This apparently was the same action previously announced by Washington.

FIRST BLACKOUT IN CORSICANA SUCCESS ACCORDING REPORTS

CHIEF WARDEN W. E. M'KINNEY SAYS HE IS WELL PLEASED WITH TEST

"It was a complete success for our first test but we have lots to learn before we are ready for the real thing,' was the comment Tuesday morning of Chief Warden W. E. McKinney on Monday night's practice blackout that was staged from 8:12 to 8:42.

No advance notice of the time for the "lights out" signal was given but when observers had reached their posts and everything was in readiness Monday night the first whistle blast was given at 8:12 and was immediately aided by shrill police sirens placed at strategic points in the blackout area.

Early Reports.

The first "all black" report was received from S. Hatchett in charge of the oil distribution facilities in the vicinity of Corsicana at 8:15, three minutes after the signal, indicating the Magnolia and Texas company pump stations and the Coffield-Guthrie units had been blacked out for the test.

J. H. Robertson reported at 8:19 that the area west of the city limits which included the State and Odd Fellows Homes had complied with the regulations. District Seven which includes the North Beaton street, Exall Heights and Zions Rest areas was the first main residential section to report all black at 8:22, followed by District Six of Northeast Corsicana at 8:25. The last districts reported all lights out just before the signal was given for "all clear."

For the first test, the Corsicana Cotton Mills were given an exemption because of the press of work on government contracts.

Whistle Was Signal.

Among the first things to be considered for future work was the securing of an adequate signal that could be heard in all parts of the territory. Exhaustive tests Monday afternoon revealed the whistle secured for the occasion was inadequate and plans were quickly made to augment the signal with use of sirens. Under the direction of Chief of Police Bruce Nutt, siren-equipped cars were placed at strategic points and began sending out their signals at the proper time after receiving instructions over the city-county shortwave radio station. They also received instructions to sound the all-clear in the same manner.

Observers reported the major portion of the city blacked out quickly and remained unlighted throughout the test period, but almost every district had one or more problems that had to be faced such as lights left on with house occupants gone, or some who extinguished their lights and then forgot and turned them on again before the thirty minutes had expired.

Wardens On Highways.

Special wardens stationed along the highways reported exceptional co-operation on the part of the motoring public and only a few vehicles took advantage of the permission granted to pass through the city with dimmed lights, and the great majority merely pulled to the side of the road and carried out regular instructions.

Few warnings had to be issued in the downtown business section and these were attended to promptly by the block wardens. One of the warnings was given to the general headquarters staff in the basement of the State National Bank building and the trouble was quickly remedied.

A running description of the test blackout was given over KAND from various vantage points but Warden McKinney announced the broadcast was for the first blackout only and under emergency orders the radio would go off the air at the same time lights were ordered off in the city.

Plane Over City.

Aerial observations of the blackout were made from a plane by Lieut. J. W. Dieterich, assistant operations officer, and Joe Lagow, recreational director at Air Activities of Texas. They later flew on over Ennis and to Dallas where they spent the night at Hensley Field.

First criticism of the Corsicana blackout effort by the aerial observers were too much light on the cars operated by the wardens in the various districts which virtually outlined the sections and made it possible to pick out almost any desired target. Little activity was noted on Highways 75 and 31 from the air, especially when compared to the traffic on the streets of Corsicana proper. A few lights could be seen from the air in the business section according to the observers and occasionally a light would flare up in the residential sections and then go out.

One small light on a filling station just south of Ennis was the only light visible in the Ellis county community according to Mr. Lagow.

McKinney Extends Thanks.

Warden McKinney extended his thanks Tuesday to all of those who had aided in the practice, including the general public for its co-operation, the Corsicana Daily Sun, city and county officials, utilities companies, members of the Civilian Defense Staff, Home Guards, American Legion, telephone company officials and operators and all others who joined in the work. He said announcements would be made in the near future concerning the training classes for the various types of workers who will be stationed in each district in the city.

Mayors of other communities in Navarro county were guests of Mayor John C. Calhoun for the evening. Also in attendance were Defense Director K. A. Anderson, Chief of Police Walding, and Bert Horswell of Palestine who have recently started the Anderson county organization.

WAR BRINGS TEMPTATIONS TO PATRIOTS FACING CRISIS*

Opportunities to be the Best Provide Also Danger of Becoming the Worst—Is There a Real Devil?—The Story of the Temptation of Jesus.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

War brings great and subtle temptations. So it is timely that today's Lesson deals with the dramatic experience of Jesus, and with the whole large theme of temptation.

In war, a nation is tempted to lose its poise, and to become ridden by panic fear or hate or small selfishness or unwarranted boastfulness. Our national character and mission were never more obligatory upon us than now, as Great Britain has shown.

Thus another name for temptation is opportunity. The war is our chance to prove our best selves, as well as a seduction to release our worst. As human jackals prowl over battlefields, intent on loot, so there range amidst our natures the baser impulses which, in time of peril, put personal advantage ahead of the great principles of patriotism, heroism, steadfastness and service. Many of us will have our souls proved by the present war.

Danger to the Best.

Lying on the surface of our Lesson is the truth that nobody is beyond the power of temptation. It came to the Son of God Himself; it comes to every one of us.

Not only did temptation come, in all its perilous reality, to the sinless Saviour, making clear that the best of men are not beyond its reach; but it also came hard on the heels of an ecstatic experience. In a mood of exaltation, Jesus had been baptized in the Jordan by John. He had been attested by the Forerunner, and by the Voice from the clouds. This was the Master's highest moment, up to that time.

Then it was that reaction came. Jesus was led—yes, led by the Spirit — into the wilderness, to confront a challenge to all that His baptism had made real. One version of the Scripture says that He underwent every kind of temptation; a truth expressed later by Paul in his familiar assertion that Jesus was "tempted in all points like as we are." If Jesus could be tempted, then even the holiest men and women are not immune. Life at its highest is a road that skirts a deep abyss.

Right here we perceive the lesson of the Lesson. Jesus overcame temptation by no power that is not in the possession of the least of His friends. Because He won, we, too, if Scripture-saturated, may also win. Defeat is not the desired destiny of any disciple. For we have the promised succor of the Saviour who has Himself known all of the temptations common to man.

A Traveller Recalls.

Every traveller to the Holy Land has at least glimpsed the great and desolate wilderness that lies south and east of Jerusalem. Few adventure into it. During one of my sojourns in Jerusalem two young men undertook to walk from the Dead Sea across this wilderness to Bethlehem. One died of thirst, heat and exhaustion, lying in a cave; his comrade barely got through to succor. Nermits used to hide themselves in the caves of this desolation; and in the midst stands the ancient Monastery of Mar Saba. Wild beasts range the region, and the hills and valleys are almost wholly void of vegetation.

Throughout forty long and burning days, Jesus wandered over this region, wrestling with His soul, and with the vast problems of His mission. During all this time He fasted. So He was in a state of physical exhaustion when the Tempter appeared. The devil is more clever than the Japs in springing his surprise attacks.

Enter Satan.

Shallow intellectuals, who of late years have most effectively done some of his errands, repudiate all belief in the devil. But we cannot ignore the second actor in the great wilderness drama we are studying. He is explicitly in the Bible, here as elsewhere; and he is definitely at work in the world. Without his prompting and assistance there never could have been such diabolical deeds as the Japanese perpetrated in Nanking, or as the Germans have done in Poland. Satan has many aides, but he himself is the master bind, loose in the world for a season.

Dr. Henry Sloane Coffin, a scholar of distinction who has kept his head amidst the vagaries of other intellectuals, puts squarely up to us the inevitable choice between a real devil and a devilish human nature. He says, "There are sinister factors mightier than himself with which a man must grapple . . . There are malignant forces—call them 'trends' 'lags,' 'urges', 'obsessions', collective movements or collective inertia, or call them plain devils—and they are viler, more brutal, more dangerous than we are at our worst. There is a malignant control over our earth. One can say many true things about earth's goodness and pleasantness, but its dominant factor, 'the prince of this world', is neither good nor lovely. Not to recognize this is to spend our days in a fool's paradise. Healthy religion has always insisted that our world is spiritually dangerous. "Watch any pray, that ye enter not into temptation."

The Basic Temptation.

Satan's assault upon Jesus was an attempt to make Him doubt God. He proposed an easy way, instead of the hard way, for Christ to fulfill His mission. At the root of every temptation that comes to mortal is this assumption that God does not mean what He says. If we really believed God, do you suppose that the world would have carried on as it has done for a generation, or that the present war would be raging?

First of Satan's appeals to Jesus, the hungry roamer in a desolate wilderness, was to turn stones into bread. In other words, put material satisfactions first. Jesus countered with the sublime and universal truth, exemplified in His own conduct, "Man shall not live by bread alone."

Then the devil tried something more subtle: he proposed that Jesus give a presumptuous exhibition of God's care and of His own sonship, by casting Himself down from the pinnacle of the temple. "Prove the Scripture." But again the Tempted Man wielded the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God, before which Satan cannot stand: "Thou shalt not make trial of the Lord thy God."

In the third temptation, Satan urged Jesus to a short cut, a compromise, in coming to His kingdom. "Make terms with me," said the evil one, after showing Jesus the kingdoms of the world, "and you can have it all." Satan was the first appeaser. Again Jesus confounded the devil with the Scripture declaration of God's sovereignty.

Then Satan fled; and in his stead came angels to comfort the Victor to the combat.

—Keats.

There are some rare occasions scattered about in history, where, as if by a common impulse, humanity has paused at its work, and, leaning upon its spade, has looked round bewildered by a sudden hopefulness; aware dimly that something fortunate has happened, that a new man has appeared in the world, and that he is a friend.

Executive Board Of County PTA Council In Session Saturday

The executive board of the Navarro County Council of Parent-Teacher association held a business session at Kinsloe House Saturday afternoon. Ten members attended.

Mrs. G. E. Moore, Jr., of Frost, presided. Plans were made for a county-wide meeting at Kinsloe House on February 7 at 2 p. m. Defense stamps will be given to the group having the largest percentage of members present at the session. Mrs. Nellie Robinson of Trinity University will be guest speaker on the subject, "Youth in Relation to the Present Defense Program."

Members pledged themselves to support the sale of Defense Stamps and bonds in every possible way. It was reported that the health committee is still attempting to secure a health unit for Navarro county.

Mrs. Horace Newsom of Kerens and Mrs. Walter Hamilton of Emhouse were elected to fill vacancies on the board.

27 Navarro County Girls Attend TSCW At Present Time

DENTON, Jan. 21.—Among the 2450 students enrolled at Texas State College for Women this year are twenty-seven Navarro county students. Again the largest woman's residential college in the United States, TSCW, has students from 214 Texas counties, 27 states and 5 foreign countries.

Navarro County girls include Misses Dorothy Jean Anderson, Ann Lou Blakeney, Cora Frances Blanding, Lilla Jean Brown, La Verne Collins, Lillian Davidson, Margaret McQuiston Evans, Imogene Frey, Sue Frances Gordon, Billie Lou Hillborn, Margaret Slaughter Metcalf, Elizabeth Molloy, Betty Jo Owen, Nancy Beatrice Pittman, Jeannette Purifoy, Billy Bob Ransom, Jean Smith, Faye Louise Strother, Katherine Marie Strother, Jo Nell Wiley, and Katrine Wright of Corsicana.

Miss Elsie Page of Blooming Grove; Misses Mildred Bonner and Mary Louise Pritchett of Eureka; Misses Jean Everheart and Peggy Ann Gown of Kerens; and Miss Lelia Katherine Dobbs of Rice.

The growth of TSCW in the short span of 39 years to a place of prominence among the nation's colleges is attributed by authorities to the ability of the college to anticipate the needs of the women in the world and to prepare them best to meet these needs.

YOUR FEDERAL INCOME TAX

No. 14

PERSONAL EXEMPTIONS AND CREDIT FOR DEFENDANTS

Domestic relations enter into the making of an income tax return. This shows itself in the matter of personal exemptions. Too many taxpayers do not understand who is legally the head of a family, or what is a dependent. As a consequence, they overpay the Government by not claiming their proper exemptions and credits. Of course, the audit of their returns discloses most of these errors, but not all of them, that are due in negligence or lack of understanding of the income-tax law and regulations.

Care is taken in drafting the instructions for filling out the forms to make them simple and easily understood. The taxpayer should study these instructions before making out his or her return.

The head of a family, as defined by the income-tax regulations, is an individual who actually supports and maintains in one household one or more individuals who are closely connected to him by blood relationship, relationship by marriage or by adoption, and whose right to exercise family control and provide for these dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation. As such, he or she is entitled to a personal exemption of $1,500.

A credit of $400 is allowed for each dependent. A dependent is one under 18 years of age, or one who is physically or mentally defective and incapable of self-support. He need not live with nor be related to the taxpayer.

If husband and wife contribute to the support of a dependent, the $400 credit may be taken by the one contributing the chief support, and it may not be divided between them. Likewise, if two members of a family contribute to the support of a dependent, the one who contributes more than one-half of the support may claim the credit.

Both the personal exemption and the credit for dependents must be prorated when the status of the taxpayer changed during the year, except where the taxpayer is eligible and elects to determine his tax at the optional rates with the use of the simplified Form 1040A.

If a taxpayer occupied the status of the head of a family solely by reason of the existence of one or more dependents for whom he would otherwise be entitled to the credit of $400, the credit of $400 in respect of one of such dependents is not allowable. For example a widower who occupies the status of the fact that he is maintaining a home for two dependent children under 18 years of age is entitled to the credit of $400 allowed for one such dependent, and the credit for the other dependent is not allowable.

CORSICANA WOMAN'S COUSIN PILOT BIG BOMBER FAR EAST

Mrs. Everett Hall of Corsicana has received clippings of Shreveport newspapers recounting exploits and experiences of a cousin, Lieut. Hewitt Wheless of Menard, Texas, now on duty in the Philippines as the pilot of one of the large American flying fortresses.

The article recited that some eighteen Japanese planes attacked the bomber over Luzon, and four were shot down. Bombs were reported dropped by the American plane on four transports.

The plane, the article continued, made its way back, although riddled with bullets. One member of the crew was killed and three wounded during the air battle.

Recent Bride Was Honoree of Shower In Navarro Home

Mrs. W. J. (Dub) Woodward, the former Miss Jerry Marsh, recent bride, was honored with a shower Tuesday afternoon in the R. M. Jennings home at Navarro with Mrs. J. E. Horn and Misses Thelma and Lena Mae Doolin, Lois and Nell Jennings, Dorothy Harvard, Hazel Smith and Virginia Whitefield of Corsicana and Ward Lou Cowsar of Commerce as co-hostesses.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Whitefield and asked to register in the bride's book which was made by Lucille Horn Tomlin of Sweeney. Lena Mae Doolen presided at the book.

Interesting games were directed by Miss Thelma Jo Doolin. Winners were Miss Betty Ruth Tomlin and Mrs. Archie Horn who presented their awards to the honoree.

Misses Hazel Smith and Daisy Horn brought the gifts to the bride and Miss Lois Jennings and Miss Dorothy Harvard gave toasts. The gifts were opened and displayed.

Hostesses served a refreshment plate from the table carrying out a red, white and blue color scheme. The table was laid in lace over blue satin centered with a reflector edged with red holly and berries. In the center stood a miniature bride and bridegroom. Red, white and blue water-lilly mint cups made by Lena Rose Harvard lent an attractive color to the plate.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. N. W. Boyd of Waco, Mrs. Buck Robinson of Corsicana and Miss Betty Ruth Tomlin of Emhouse. Aproximately 50 guests were called.

Emhouse Boys 4-H Club Members Make Report on Projects

The Emhouse Boys 4-H Club met recently with Ben D. Cook, assistant county agent, in charge. Each member reported on his subject. Two new members, Glynn Tomblin and La Grande Smith, were welcomed.

Handbooks were distributed as were books dealing with livestock, poultry, sheep and hogs. It was announced that the club will meet the first Friday and the third Tuesday in each month. An outdoor trip is being planned for the next meeting.

PRICE CONTROL

that they hoped the five house conferees would agree among themselves on the compromise proposal.

Members of the senate delegation said they would be willing to drop the controversial attempt to tie farm prices to urban wage levels, as provided in an amendment sponsored by Sen. O'Mahoney (Dem.) of Wyoming, which the senate approved 55 to 30.

They asked the house conferees to accept senate provisions for licensing of business, a single price administrator, and granting the government broad powers to buy and sell commodities as a factor for controlling their prices.

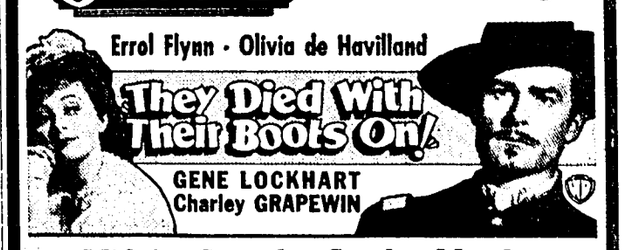

President Roosevelt was expected to withdraw his outspoken objections to giving Secretary of Agriculture Wickard a virtual veto power over any farm price ceilings fixed by Leon Henderson, acting price administrator.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ogburn at the P. and S. Hospital Thursday morning.

ALLIED IDEOLOGY

We Americans today hardly recognize ourselves when we take a good look at the international company we're keeping. At Washington we see Uncle Sam and John Bull sitting on a log and figuring out together the best way to win friends and influence people. And when it comes to disposing of people they don't like, there's no limit to their chumminess and cooperation. They are now sworn friends and partners in the biggest deals ever cooked up in this world.

More remarkable still is our association with Russia, the "Red Peril" which lately we feared would destroy modern civilization. Now we're chock-a-block with Stalin in the same joint enterprise, and nobody is so rude as to mention bolshevism or the superior merits of private enterprise. And if by chance democracy is mentioned, why, what's a little terminology among friends? Broadly speaking, isn't it the spirit that counts? And aren't we all good democrats together? Or good collectivists, if you prefer to look at it that way. War is a collective process.

As a matter of fact, we're really not very far apart in our present attitudes and procedures. What matters now, in this immense job of saving our skins and property, is not so much our idealogy, our technical form of government, but our international behavior in a world crisis.

We see now that our differences are less than our similarities, our grudges less than our basic friendships, in the face of great peril. The external evils that we fight, outside of our own group, are immensely greater. When we have licked them, we can renew our old feuds—if we want to. Probably we won't want to. Blood is thicker than ideology.

GRACE BEFORE MEAT.

A daily moment set aside for prayer is being urged by a church group, with 6 p.m. as the time for church bells to remind the nation of this spiritual activity. Here is one moment's prayer—grace before meat:

"Grant us, O Lord, wisdom to see what we have to do, intelligence to know how to do it right. Give us strength and endurance to take what we have to take with our chins up.

"Give us this day our daily bread and grant us faith to believe without faltering that we shall win this war, whose purpose is to give to all the nations of earth opportunity to earn their bread in freedom and to eat it in peace.

"May this food now before us strengthen us for our daily tasks. Bless it to our use and us to thy strong and resolute service."

WISE HAWAIIANS.

The Hawaiians have the right idea. Study of a dictionary of their language reveals the fact that the same word, "kani" means both "singing" and "squeaking." Also that one and the same word is used for "peacemaker" and for "Goat". That the way of the peacemaker is hard, has long been known; it has remained for the Hawaiians to recognize that, ever since the Treaty of Vesailles, the peacemaker has become the international goat.

We're now going to do without things—and like it.

JUST FOLKS

Copyright, 1937, Edgar A. Guest

BOOK DESIRE.

There's always some hope for a toper; good sense may come back to his head.
He may give up his weakness forever and all of his folly may shed, tell you, though perfectly simple it looks,
There's no hope whatever of curing the fellow whose weakness is books.

Oh, the hats and the bonnets denied them for beautiful bindings and rare!
Oh, the dresses in choice first editions our women folks wanted to wear!
Oh, the furs and the shoes and the slippers they vision on shelves and in nooks
All standing in board and in leather—the money all squandered for books!

Ask good Reverend Jones if you doubt me how quickly his wife takes alarm
When she sees him approaching their doorway, a square package under his arm.
Or the postman's arrival o'mornings with catalogs dealers prepare
With temptation again to beset him, though he hasn't a dollar to spare.

The toper may give up his liquor; the smoker abandon the weed,
But the fellow with books for his weakness comes down from a stubborner breed.
And the women with him for a partner of his wages can never be sure
For the itching for books is a madness that nobody ever will cure.

ASSURANCE.

The most reassuring thing in America now is the unity of this nation. Never in all our history have we been so united. And thus we are more ready for great achievement than we have ever been before.

The treacherous assault at Pearl Harbor solved our doubts and dissolved our differences. Events since then have molded us in to a national team. The most recent and convincing evidence has been the President's address to Congress last Tuesday and the way the nation rose to it.

We have not suffered yet as have Britain and many other stricken countries and we cannot tell what fate has in store for us. But in our present mood we seem almost to realize the noble words spoken by Winston Churchill in England's crisis last June:

"Let us therefore brace ourselves to our duty and so bear ourselves that, if the British Commonwealth and Empire last for a thousand years, men will still say, 'This was their finest hour.'"

NONE OF OUR AFFAIR?

Not till 1917 did our country get into a general European war. So most people will tell you, but they are telling you wrong. Before the First World War the biggest wars on record were those fought by and against Napoleon. Did we stay out? We did not. We fought the War of 1812 against England, and thereby gave aid and comfort to Napoleon.

Before Napoleon, back in the middle of the eighteenth century, came the Seven Years' War, which started when Frederick the Great of Prussia robbed Austria of Silesia. It was a purely local quarrel which had nothing to do with this country, but as a result Englishmen, Frenchmen and colonial Americans fought the French and Indian Wars and made Canada British instead of French. George Washington learned military strategy when he accompanied General Braddock on the latter's ill-fated expedition against the Indians. All this was part of the Seven Years' War; for England was helping Prussia, and France was helping Austria. The English capture of Fort Duquesne, where Pittsburg now stands was one of the campaigns of the Seven Years' War.

Yet people will tell you that our tradition is to let European countries fight it out among themselves.

This is the war against war; what we want is quantity production of peace.

War Pome: It's the Axis makes our taxes.

YOUTH IS INJURED WHEN HEAVY TRACTOR TURNS OVER ON HIM

Tommy Truelove, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Truelove of Munger, is in the Navarro Clinic suffering a broken arm, fractured ribs and other injuries sustained Friday when a heavy farm tractor turned over, pinning him to the ground.

He was alone at the time of the accident, it was stated, and the soft earth prevented his being killed instantly. A faithful dog's continuous barking attracted the attention of Mrs. Truelove and a neighbor, who investigated and found the youth. A neighbor brought another tractor to the scene and pulled the machine from Tommy's body, after the youth had been pinned helpless for more than an hour.

The youth was taken to a Hubbard hospital and later was transferred to Corsicana. Painful blisters from gasoline which poured over his body from the overturned tractor also were sustained, it was stated.

GARDEN PROGRAM TO RAISE FOODSTUFFS FOR LUNCH PROJECT

Plans are being made by Navarro county schools for a county-wide garden to raise foodstuffs for processing in a WPA canning center as a part of the WPA school dunch project it has been announced. The filled cans will be prorated to each participating school for use next year in the school lunches. It was found last year that by using WPA assistance in the gardening and canning program that the cost to the schools was approximately one and one-half cents per can.

It has been determined, according to the announcement, that one acre of ground is adequate for raising foodstuff for approximately 100 children. School patrons are being encouraged to donate excess produce from their own home gardens to this project. Any fruit canned must be donated. The produce thus contributed by patrons in a community and processed in the central canning unit will be labelled and the full amount returned for the use of that particular school.

Ruth Yelvington, school lunch supervisor, county superintendents office, can give any additional information desired.

Word Received That Nephew Corsicanans Is Safe in Pacific

Word has been received from Tom L. Cox, Jr., nephew of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Brown of Corsicana, who is somewhere in the Pacific with the army air corps, that he is safe.

Cox is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom L. Cox, Sr., of Mexia, who received a postal card dated December 14 from him Monday. The card did not disclose his definite whereabouts and is the first message received from him since the war began. Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Brown are sisters.

Increase Sale Of Defense Stamps, Bonds Past Week

A decided increase in the volume of defense stamp and bond sales during the past week was reported Monday by S. J. Miles, chairman of the Corsicana Retail Merchants committee, assisting in the campaign, and a number of firms have voluntarily reported on the amount of their sales and the progress of their employes investments.

A few more days will be allowed Corsicana merchants to confer with their employes and work out some program of regular payday investments in stamps and bonds and to complete arrangements for the sales of stamps in their store Chairman Miles reported and then a survey of every retail establishment will be made.

"When we make our check we will find out how many establishments have all of their employes co-operating, and will also note the facilities for selling the stamps to the general public, and the co-operation with the campaign in general," he stated.

"The members of this committee are as busy as anybody else but we are not too busy to help out on this proposition when the nation is at stake, and we are serious when we say we are going to do everything in our power to make Corsicana and Navarro county a hundred per cent behind the voluntary investment plan suggested by the Treasury Department," he concluded.

RANDOLPH MITCHELL GOING TO OFFICER CANDIDATE SCHOOL

Pfc (specl 5 cl) Charles Charles Randolph Mitchell, who has been stationed at Fort Sam Houston as clerk-typist in the officers' division, headquarters Eighth Corps Area, since his induction into the armed forces of the United States last June, spent Monday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Mitchell, en route to Virginia, where he has been authorized to report for duty as student in an officer candidate school.

Owing to the limited quota each state is allowed for these schools and the keen competition involved, Pvt. Mitchell is to be congratulated on winning the assignment in his short period of enlistment.

Randy is known for his cheerful disposition, his ability and willingness to work long hours under pressure which are essentials of success in any undertaking. The good wishes of a host of friends go with him in his new field of endeavor.

School Building In Kerens Is Civilian Registration Point

KERENS, Jan. 20.—(Spl.)—The Kerens school building has been designated as place of registration of civilians in the Kerens area, and the time has been set for January 24.

All persons not already participating in defense work are requested to register at the nearest point, which in this vicinity will include registration centers at Bazette, Rural Shade, Round Prarie and Powell, as well as the one at the local school.

Kerens registration is supervised by Mayor G. M. Chapman, and appointment of supervisors of all communities has been announced. Colored as well as whites are requested to register.

After cards have been filled in they will be filed for use by the county council of civilian defense in assigning volunteers for specific tasks required by the war emergency.

AMERICAN LEGION OFFICIAL SPEAKER BEFORE LIONS CLUB

In a program dedicated to victory, members of the Corsicana Lions Club, meeting in regular session at the Navarro Hotel Tuesday noon, heard G. Ward Moody, field representative of the American Legion of Texas from Odessa, declare that America will win this war and then win the peace that follows.

Meeting in joint session with the Corsicana Lions was the Dawson Lions Club, headed by Ray L. Waller, zone chairman. Honored guests for the occasion were five Navarro County mayors. They were John C. Calhoun, Corsicana; Floyd Smith, Dawson; E. S. Allen, Richland; G. M. Chapman, Kerens; and R. F. Bartlett, Rice.

Interspersing his opening remarks with considerable humor, Moody reviewed the rise and fall of dictators since the time of Alexander the Great and commented on the untimely end of each.

Napoleon was the next great conqueror after Alexander, but made the fatal mistake of visiting Moscow. Since that time Moscow has been very unpopular with would-be conquerors, he quipped.

Next to arrive on the scene with world-dominating ambitions was the Kaiser, he said. America came in and won the war, but neglected the peace, and now is confronted with another self-styled Napoleon, Mr. Moody said.

In discussing Hitler's rise to power, the Legionnaire pointed out that he was nothing but a poverty-stricken house painter who was forced into politics by the depression. To hold favor with the people, he developed a huge army, prepared the people mentally for war, and then embarked on another world-wide campaign, he said.

As a result of losing the peace following the last war, the American people are confronted with the choice of despotic rule by the totalitarian nations or a long, hard fight that will require, money, sacrifice, and bloodshed. America, he said, will accept the latter and fight through to final and total victory.

Other guests present were W. E. McKinney, Joe Daniel, F. A. Pierce, J. L. McCulloch, Dawson; T. A. Price, Dallas; V. E. Temple, Henry Prince, J. M. Beasley, W. C. Roberts, C. D. Berry, Wilburn Wright, William J. McPool, Andrew G. Steele, L. V. Majors, Fred Blucher, K. A. Gay, Joe Butler, S. J. Miles, and Joe Kelly.

President F. H. Harvey presided. Joe Daniel introduced the speaker.

YOU BETTER HURRY

TIME IS GETTING SHORT TO RENEW OR SEND IN YOUR SUBSCRIPTION TO THE

Corsicana Semi-Weekly Light

at the present price of $1.00 a year.

Beginning with February 1st, 1942, there will be a slight increase in the subscription price of the Light as follows:

3 Months 75c
6 Months $1.00
1 Year $1.50

All to be in advance.

This small increase over the present price was made necessary on account of the increased cost of all printing equipment, material and newsprint paper.

To meet the increased cost of production now upon us, and to continue keeping the Semi-Weekly Morning Light to its present high standard, this small change in price was forced upon us.

The same increased cost of production has forced newspapers throughout the nation to make changes in subscription rates, with many new rates for weekly papers being higher than our new rate for a semi-weekly paper. In other words, weekly newspapers are now getting from $1.50 to $2.00 a year, when our price will only be $1.50 a year, with the subscribers to the Light getting twice as many papers a year as those taking weekly papers.

We are glad we will be able to hold our price down to the prices quoted above.

We feel sure our patrons will gladly pay this small increase when their subscriptions expire, or for new subscribers.

The continued high standard and quality of the Light will be made possible by the continued loyalty and patronage of its many thousands of subscribers and patrons, all of which we will appreciate and be very grateful.

The present price of $1.00 a year will prevail throughout the month of January if you desire to take advantage of this price for either renewal or new subscriptions. The limit at this price will be for only one year.

Air Reinforcements.

SINGAPORE, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Hurricane reinforcements swelled the British air power for the battle of Malaya today and counter-attacking ground troops heavily engaged Japanese divisions in the Bukit Payong area below the Muar river.

Even before the arrival of the heavily-gunned Hurricanes was officially announced, a resurgence in aerial activity of the defenders was evident.

Five raiding Japanese planes were shot down and a sixth was damaged over Singapore today and British fliers claimed a heavy toll of invasion transport columns behind the lines.

U. S. Fortress Bombers Arrive.

BATAVIA, N. E. I., Jan 22.—(AP)—Aneta, Netherlands news agency, said today it was announced officially in Batavia that United States Fortress bombers arrived recently in The Netherlands East Indies and now are based in the N. E. I.

Aneta said it was these planes which sank a Japanese cruiser and set fire to a 10,000-ton tanker on Monday 100 miles south of the Island of Jolo, in the Philippines south of Mindadao.

(The bombing successes had been announced previously in Washington, the war department communique of Tuesday crediting them to "six American army bombers."

(Reuters, British news agency, recorded a Batavia radio announcement that a fortress bomber had sunk a Japanese tanker of about 10,000 tons, 100 miles south of Jolo, but this evidently was the same action already announced by Washington.))

U. S. Fortress Sank Ship.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—(AP)—A Singapore News broadcast recorded here by the CBS listening post said "an American flying fortress scored an outstanding success today off the Dutch East Indies Archipelago when a 10,000-ton Japanese freighter was bombed and sunk."

The news report said "several places in the Archipelago were bombed and machine-gunned but little damage was done.

"The total number of Japanese ships of all classes sunk since the outbreak of the war was brought to 41."

Oil Plants, Wells Destroyed.

BATAVIA, NEI, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Oil plants and oil wells at Balik Papan, in Dutch Borneo, have been "completely destroyed in view of the clearly distinguished Japanese intention to attack Balik Papin with superior forces in order to get hold of the important oil wells," it was authoritatively announced today.

Japanese Using Elephants.

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—(Official Broadcast recorded by AP)—Dispatches from Bangkok said today the Japanese were using elephants from Thailand in their Burma invasion.

The report broadcast by the Berlin radio said the elephants were "the best means of transport in this region" where Japanese forces were described as pushing through densely-wooded, ravine-broken mountain country toward Moulmein.

New Jap Thrust Into Burma

RANGOON, Burma, Jan. 22.—(AP)—A new Japanese thrust into Burma from Thailand was reported today by a British communique which said British patrols had come in contact "with the enemy who crossed the border at Rayataung, southeast of Moulmein."

The communique said the British still held some positions east of Kawwareik, where a Japanese-Thai column was heavily engaged previously. It reported "the enemy is not pressing" in this area, some 45 miles east of Moulmein.

The arrival in Rangoon of "a good number of military personnel" from Tavoy, the southern Burman port seized by the Japanese at the beginning of the week, was announced, indicating that a considerable portion of the garrison had escaped.

Others Have Advantages.

These are matters that undoubtedly will be considered seriously and in the choosing of a site, Beckworth continued, then said that "admittedly there are other advantages" to be found in other sections of Texas and which doubtless will be considered.

Location of a plant in the Houston area, he remarked, would have the natural advantage to be found in sites in or near large cities. Cheap water transportation as a factor to be considered and a point stressed by cities along the Gulf Coast.

While Beckworth was stressing the advantages offered by his section, congressmen from other areas in Texas likewise were urging that the government in their districts use part of the $400,000,000 proposed to be spent for synthetic rubber plants.

Location of a plant in the Texas Panhandle for the processing of butadiene, a primary ingredient in synthetic rubber, was understood to be near approval by the government. Here to urge location of defense projects of any kind in that area of Texas was Rex. B. Baxter, manager of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce. He was to be joined later this week by delegation of Amarilloans including Gene Howe, publisher of the Amarillo Globe-News; Mayor Joe Jenkins; Col. E. A. Simpson, and Charles Ware, Banker.

Agedabia is seventy miles northeast of El Agheila.

Light Forces Withdrawn.

"Our light forces, which had been harassing the enemy since his retirement from Agedabia, withdrew, maintaining contact with the enemy throughout the day and inflicting casualties upon him," British headquarters said.

The German high command's version asserted that axis armored columns drove the British back in a surprise attack and declared that the British were fleeing toward Agedabia.

Premier Mussolini's high command said axis planes supporting the land operations "repeatedly and intensively attacked retreating troops, concentrations of armored units, anti-aircraft batteries, depots and troop concentrations."

A bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters, contrasting with the gloomy terseness of recent communiques, reported that the fuehrer's Crimean armies had beaten off Russian attempts to break the encirclement of Sevastopol, Black Sea naval base, and that repeated Soviet attempts to break out of Leningrad had been "frustrated."

Nazi Counter-Attacks.

Russian dispatches from the southwestern front—a term which might refer either to the Crimea or the Ukraine—reported that Soviet cavalry and artillery had crushed a series of violent German counter-attacks.

A Red army bulletin said 1,400 Germans were killed in heavy fighting in the south, and the Leningrad radio reported 700 Nazis slain in action around the old-time czarist capital in the north.

The battle cry of the troops of Lieut. Gen. Leonid Gorovo, the conqueror of Mazhaisk, was: "The road to victory lies ahead." Russian artillery pounded the German rear guard. The long road to Smolensk was reported crowded with fleeing troops.

A heavy British aerial offensive against axis bases in the Mediterranean basin was reported by the London air ministry—attacks apparently designed to circumvent a thrust against Malta or strengthening of German-Italian forces engaged in the second battle of Libya.

British Bombers Blast Airdrome.

Wave after wave of Wellington bombers blasted at the Cantania airdrome of Sicily in a ten-hour raid Tuesday night and pilots said they started fires which were visible forty miles away.

British bombers raided targets in Germany again last night.

Nazi Repulse Soviets.

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—(Official Broadcast Recorded by AP)—The German high command reported today that German forces on the Crimean Peninsula repulsed Russian attempts to break through the Nazi encirclement of Sevastopol, main Russian naval base on the Black Sea.

British and Axis In Battle.

ROME, Jan. 22.—(Official Broadcast Recorded by AP)—British forces and axis troops are locked in a battle in Western Cirenaica, the Italian high command announced today.

CHANGES ANNOUNCED IN AAA OFFICES FOR NAVARRO COUNTY

Two long-time employees of the AAA offices at the court house have resigned their posts this week to accept other jobs, while two new clerks have been added to the personnel. This announcement was made by R. V. Davis of Dawson, chairman of the county AAA committee, Thursday morning.

Charles Barnaby, chief clerk, has accepted a position at the local primary flying school of Air Activities of Texas. He had been connected with the AAA for almost eight years.

Mrs. Ethline Roxburgh, clerk for approximately five years, left Tuesday to accept a position with the Wyatt Boiler Works at Houston.

Misses Naomi Crecelius of Purdon Route 1 and Bonnie Ruth Compston, Corsicana, are new clerks at the office.

To Launch Sub Chaser.

SEABROOK, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The first combatant seacraft launched on the Texas gulf coast since the United States' entry into war will slide down the ways here Saturday.

The vessel is a submarine chaser of the type now actively patroling the Atlantic and Pacific coasts—a 110-foot, heavily armored boat capable of combating air, surface and undersea power.

Now known only as the PC501, the craft will be given a name by Mrs. Albert Fay, wife of the president of the Seabrook Yacht Corporation, as she bangs it with a bottle of champagne.

Texas Gets $6,294,440

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Texas was apportioned $6,294,440 by the public roads administrattion for federal-aid highway work during the current fiscal year, ending next June 30, according to data submitted to a congressional committee during hearings on the independent offices appropriation bill introduced today in the house.

During the last (1941) fiscal year there was an expenditure of $5,411,206. there was a total of 14,742 miles of designated federal-aid highways in the state, by far the greatest of any state. New York was second with 9,803 miles in its federal-aid highway system.

Secondary or feeder roads were allotted $1,101,527 of the total amount apportioned to Texas in the 1942 (current fiscal year); the apportionment for elimination of grade crossings was $1,062,857.

Houston Shipbuilding Lagging

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Maritime commission officials told a congressional committee during hearings on the independent offices appropriation bill introduced today in the house that merchant ship construction at Houston, Texas, was lagging behind that in other ports over the country.

Testifying before a house appropriations subcommittee was Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the commission. Representative Starnes (Dem.) of Alabama, questioned the admiral and his aide, Capt. Howard L. Vickery, about the progress of the "Liberty" class cargo vessels construction program and asked whether advantage was being taken on the good harbors on the gulf coast.

"They have 215 ships down there, but I must say that all of the gulf yards are the fartheast behind," said the captain.

FARMERS ARE ASKED TO SAVE MATERIALS USED ABOUT FARM

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 22.—(Spl.)—Burlap and baling wire are the latest additions to the materials which farmers are being asked to use sparingly.

Imports of burlap from India have been drastically curtailed by the war, B. F. Vance, chairman of the Texas USDA War Board, pointed out in urging Texas farmers to make every possible effort to extend the life of their burlap sacks. Two-thirds of the burlap still being imported is being taken by the government for military purposes.

Vance urged farmers to refrain from ripping their burlap sacks when opening them, to use no hooks, and to hang the sacks in dry, protected places for later use.

As for the baling wire situation, Vance declared that farmers could make a direct contribution to the war effort and protect themselves from possible shortages by using wire as sparingly as possible. U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates indicate that farmers will need between 90,000 and 100,000 tons of wire for baling hay, straw and other forage crops in 1942. The steel shortage makes it imperative that farmers draw upon products made from steel as little as possible.

FARMERS ELIGIBLE FOR TIRES AND TUBES TRACTORS, TRUCKS

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 22.—(Spl.)—Texas farmers are eligible to apply for tubes or tires for farm tractors, other farm implements or trucks which carry farm products and foods to market, according to B. F. Vance, chairman, Texas USDA War Board.

Distribution of tires or tubes will be made through certificates issued by county rationing boards, the chairman said.

"The first step is to obtain an application form from local rationing boards and obtain a statement from the board's inspector that the tire or tube to be replaced cannot be repaired, recapped, retreaded, or otherwise made useable," Vance said.

When inspector's statements are secured, farmers are asked to explain to rationing boards the purpose for which the tire or tube is to be used.

"Tires or tubes may not be obtained for trucks which transport farm products to ultimate consumers, and cannot be obtained for any purpose unless they are to be mounted immediately," Vance explained.

If applicants meet standards of local tire rationing boards, a certificate will be issued which allows purchase from any dealer, provided the board has not already reached the monthly total of certificates which it may issue.

THE WAR TODAY

trade which is proposed should go far towards remedying the situation.

Turning to the active war-front, one of the bright spots for the allies in the generally gloomy picture in the Pacific areas is the announcement that British Hurricane fighting planes, which posgess great fire-power, have arrived in the Singapore region and are in action. We aren't told, of course, how many of these hard-hitting machines have been brought into play, but the fact that such air reinforcements have arrived is glad news, for the battle of the Pacific is turning on air-power at this moment, and the Japanese have had things pretty much their own way thusfar.

This move by the British should help dispel the erroneous idea which has grown that the allies are going to devote all their resources to beating Hitler and meantime let the Orient go by the board. So far as I know, nobody in responsible position has ever said that the allies didn't intend to make a vigorous effort against the Japs.

It is true that the allied high command considers the smashing of Hitler the paramount task, and doesn't intend to allow the Pacific show to distract attention from carrying it out. However, there has been every intention to send reinforcements and to put up as good a show as possible without letting Hitler run wild in Europe again.

Time has been needed to provide reinforcements. The American defense of the Philippines and the British action in Malaya have held up the Nipponese and given the allies a chance to assemble aid and get it under way. If the allies have really strong air reinforcements on hand for the Pacific area it may rock the Japanese back on their heels, for much of their success thusfar has been due to their control of the air.

Enrollees in U. S. Maritime Training School Big-Footed

PORT HUENEME, Calif., Jan. 22—(AP)—The question here is who is more embarassed, officers of the U. S. Maritime Training School, or 100 recruits.

It seems that future officers of America's merchant marine have big—very big—feet.

Shoes in stock include only a few large sizes. For the past two weeks, one out of every three enrollees has required shoes size 9 or larger.

Until a new shipment arrives, the big boys will have to get along with their old footwear.

HEALTH, BEAUTY AND POISE

HOW TO IMPROVE YOUR PERSONALITY
By VERONICA DENGEL

A NEW IDEA.

I have many letters from 14 and 15 year old girls asking for advice as to make-up, personal care, hair-do's, and the right clothes—so I have decided that one day a week I shall talk particularly to this group. Send in your problems and questions to the "Four - fifths Forum"—you are really four-fifths grown-up, aren't you? And we want that last fifth to be the best fifth—the section that will add the polish, poise, and self-confidence you all need and want so much.

Veronica Dengel

Of course, there will be material that others can use, too—mothers can learn little pointers that will help them in changing the ugly duckling into the swan. Because certainly this age group includes many ducklings who can and will be very beautiful swans. But it will take work, determination, and persistent effort—just beauty of face is not what we are after. The complete picture of a charming, well-groomed, attractively dressed, young lady is our ultimate goal—a girl who will be attractive to the boys, well liked by the girls, and admired by her elders.

An amusing incident along this line happened in our house just the other evening. My daughter had been invited to the theatre by a young man she had not seen for almost two years—at that time she was too young for "dates," and so was he. He had met her one week-end at a friend's house, and they had gone sailing in his boat that afternoon. She had heard of him only indirectly since then, because he was away at prep school. On his Christmas holidays he called to ask her out, and when she came into the living room to greet him, I noticed a rather surprised look on his face. However, he said nothing until later in the evening (she told me about this) when they were dancing, he said: "Gosh, I can't wait until two years from now!" My child asked him why, and he replied: "If you change as much in the next two years, as you have in the last two—well,—gosh!"

I found it amusing, but it made me think, too. We mothers, because we see our children so very much, don't appreciate that they are constantly changing in these years—and must realize that a large part of those changes are within our control.

So, let's have our "Four-fifths Forum"—shall we say on Tuesday of each week?

I know some of the things you girls will want me to discuss, but there may be many other things I shall overlook unless you bring them to my attention—so please write to me and tell me what you most want to know about. Yes, sometimes I shall scold, but all mothers have to do that, you know. But mostly, I want to have open discussions of the many problems that face all of you—and your letters will be a real guide in deciding what to talk about. So please write to me—you don't need to send a stamped, self-addressed envelope, because the problems will be answered in the column for the benefit of your other friends. Of course, I won't use your names! I never do, as you know. So, let's get off to a nice start—next Tuesday.

All requests for personal "Health Beauty and Poise" information desired by Veronica Dengel's column followers must be accompanied by a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope (s. a. e.). Address: Veronica Dengel in care of this newspaper

MEMBERS OF 36TH DIVISION LEARNING LOADING OF TRAINS

CAMP BOWIE, Jan. 22.—Units of the 36th Infantry Division are training in methods of loading equipment and personnel on railroad cars as part of the necessary instruction ordered for all troops by General Headquarters, Washington, D. C.

Two loading teams per battalion, with seven enlisted men and one officer comprising a team, were detailed for training by a division memorandum.

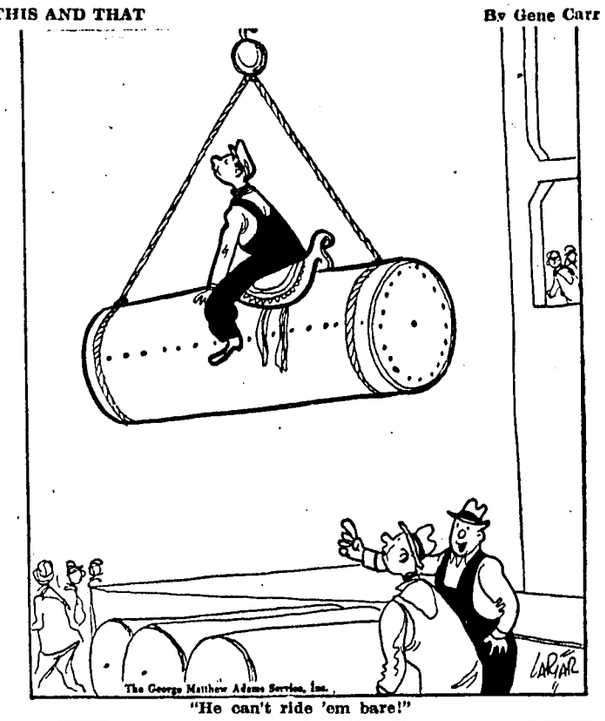

Battalions will load and block at least one vehicle of each type of its organic transportation, including trailers. Field kitchens will be loaded in baggage and box cars and blocked in the prescribed manner. In addition to loading of vehicles, each regiment and separate battalion will practice passenger car loading of officers and men wearing full field equipment.

Tentative plans provide for six flat cars, two box or baggage cars and several of various type passenger cars. The schedule is planned to continue for two weeks until all units of the division have had the opportunity of practicing loading of their material and personnel.

F. H. HARVEY, JR., IS NAMED PRESIDENT CHAMBER COMMERCE

COMMITTEE FOR ANNUAL MEMBERSHIP MEETING ANNOUNCED WEDNESDAY

New officers were named, committees for the annual membership meeting announced, and a recommendation that a housing authority be formed by the citizens of the community to supply needed housing was passed along to the public for consideration at the meeting of the board of directors of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce Wednesday morning.

F. H. Harvey, Jr., was elected president succeeding Joe E. Butler, chief executive of the organization for the past two years; others chosen included N. Suttle Roberts, first vice-president; J. L. Collins, second vice-president; J. N. Edens, treasurer; and R. W. Knight, manager.

A number of citizens other than board members were invited for the session Wednesday including representatives of the building material dealers, contractors, realtors, insurance firms, retail and household furniture merchants, and utility company officials.

President Joe E. Butler called the meeting to order and minutes of the last session were read and approved. A letter was read from the Austin Chamber of Commerce asking for support in a protest against the drastic rubber rationing regulations. A resolution adopted by the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce pointing out the needs for higher prices for crude oil was also presented, but no action was taken on either matter.

Committees Named.

Committees on the annual membership meeting to be held on Thursday, Feb. 12, were announced by President Butler as follows:

General Program—J. F. (Speedy) Adams, Will Thompson, Judge E. D. McCormick, Festus A. Pierce, J. L. Collins, W. C. Stroube, and Fred D. Prince.

Arrangements — Sidney Marks, John Corley, Fred V. Blucher, T. L. Carlisle, and Louis Wolens.

Reception—Judge E. D. McCormick, Major John C. Calhoun, Lowry Martin, Beauford H. Jester, Dr. J. Wilson David, Jay A. Silverberg, Robert Erwin, R. L. Wheelock and F. C. Paul.

N. Suttle Roberts, chairman of the civic affairs committee and also of a special committee named to study needed housing facilities, reviewed the work done recently by his group stating a survey had indicated there was a need for additional houses because of national defense work in this locality. He said Federal Housing Authority had estimated the need at sixty to seventy-five units, although some people thought that figure too high.

Housing Rents Explained.

Roberts points out that it was possible to construct the new rental property through a special division of the FHA and if an individual did not care to handle such development a housing authority could be organized, a revolving fund established, and the houses built at a maximum cost of $4,000 under the liberal loan policies. He said it was an admitted fact that if Corsicana interests did not supply the houses that parties outside the community would take advantage of the opportunity and in such an instance too many homes might be constructed and the final effect be detrimental to the best of the town.

Mayor Calhoun reported he had been a member of a special committee that had studied the situation carefully and had secured all possible information and had tentatively decided on the organization of a housing authority to undertake the development. He admitted that every possible effort had been made to discourage out-of-town interests entering the field but that a Tyler resident had taken an option on some property on which some sixty houses might be built. He said it had been planned to secure the needed funds from those who stood to profit most from the enterprise. He also stated the subdivision plan of operation was favored by FHA officials because of the smaller amount of detail work involved.

R. W. Knight also recalled some of the work that had been done and said while there had apparently been an agreement on procedure the organization had not been completed and no charter had been secured.

Knight also stated some thought the building material interest should supply most or all of the capital needed but they differed on the matter.

Favors Local Authority.

F. W. Smith, material dealer, said his firm was not in the real estate or rental business but dealth with materials only. He said he favored a local authority and that he did not believe the yards could finance the authority because of the anti-trust laws. He stated later he would not be willing to develop an area, and that he feared the charter of his company would prevent if he desired. He also stated most of the material dealers had typical plans prepared and sites for the houses selected and were waiting for the authority to be formed to proceed with the actual construction.

W. M. Spear, another material dealer, said he thought the main question was whether Corsicana control was desired, or if the possible bad effects of outside development were to be risked.

Max D. Almond, a third dealer, said the case had been covered and he thought the project was one in which all citizens should be interested.

A general discussion of the situation ensued at length with numerous angles being developed. After several efforts to secure action of some kind, a motion was adopted by which the board endorsed the formation of a citizens housing authority according to the suggestions and regulations of the Federal Housing Authority.

The report of the nominating committee on officers was presented by J. L. Collins and unanimously adopted.

Retiring President Butler declared that he had spent two happy years as head of the organization, and at all times had enjoyed the full co-operation of the staff and directors, and bespoke the same support for the new executive.

President-elect Harvey told the board he was grateful for the honor and realized he was undertaking a big job in normal times, and an even harder one under war conditions. He declared he would need the close co-operation of the staff, the board of directors, and the membership. He pledged his best efforts and admitted at the outset that he would likely make many mistakes.

New President

F. H. Harvey, Jr., above, was unanimously elected president of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of the board of directors of the organization Wednesday morning. He will succeed Joe E. Butler who has been the chief executive for the past two years.

FINAL PLANS MADE ANNUAL INFANTILE PARALYSIS CAMPAIGN

Approximately 25 members of the Navarro County Foundation for Infantile Paralysis met in joint session with the membership of the Corsicana Junior Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night at the YMCA and made final plans for the annual financial campaign which was lahnched here Wednesday morning.

Emphasizing a March of Dimes drive, Chairman Deen Allen asserted that the campaign this year promises to be the most successful ever conducted by the local chapter.

Mrs. A. E. Haslam, foundation treasurer, reported on the financial condition of the organization and pointed out that the chapter aided 52 infantile paralysis victims in Navarro county during the past year. Due to limited funds raised in the drive last year, the chapter was only able to provide necessary transportation expenses to state medical centers.

Representatives were present from all parts of the county.

Mrs. W. K. Steele, women's activities chairman, outlined the work to be conducted among women's organizations throughout the county. Each organization will be enlisted in the drive, she asid.

County Judge E. D. McCormick made a brief talk in which he expressed confidence that the citizenship of the county would respond this year as never before.

J. C. Watson, county school superintendent, pledged full support of the schools in the county. He announced that the principals of the various schools would meet Wednesday night at the court house, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, to discuss the part the schools can play in the drive. Superintendent W. H. Norwood of the Corsicana schools also offered full support of the local schools.

Aiding Chairman Allen.

Working in close co-operation with Chairman Allen are Terry McCary, manager of the local theatres, and Paul Mitchell, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. McCary is planning a number of novelty advertising features to aid the drive. He has also arranged for a special movie short by Clark Gable in which the famous movie star calls for an "all-out" fight against the dread disease.

Jaycee President Paul Mitchell will head the Corsicana campaign, assisted by Isadore Goldberg, who has arranged to construct a dime depository at the intersection of Beaton and Collin streets next Friday and Saturday.

Citizens were urged today by Chairman Allen to contribute liberally in the campaign as a marked increase in the number of infantile paralysis cases throughout the nation has been noted during the past year. No soliciting will be made, but coin collectors will be placed at strategic locations in all business establishments for the convenience of the public, he pointed out.

K. WOLENS STORES USING BICYCLES IN CERTAIN DELIVERIES

Bicycles nistead of automobiles are now being used for delivery of small bundles and mail for the K. Wolens Department Stores, it was announced today by officials. The substitution of such vehicles is in line with the government program to conserve vitally needed rubber.

Jay Silverberg, vice president, has returned from a two-weeks' trip to the eastern markets. He visited New York, Pittsburgh, Chicago, and Washington, D. C. Commenting on market conditions there he said that it was exceedingly difficult to purchase any type of electrical appliances or merchandise containing metals.

Another executive of the company, Louis Wolens, left Wednesday for New York where he will purchase a complete line of men's wear.

Major Davis Here.

Major Charles J. Davis, formerly connected with the 36th Division, 133rd F. A., at Camp Bowie, was in Corsicana Wednesday en route to Washington to assume his new duties there. Mrs. Davis is accompanying him to Washington.

DAVE KENNEMORE IS REAL DEAN OF COUNTY EMPLOYEES

Dave Kennemore, fireman and engineer for the county at the courthouse and powerhouse, is the real dean of county employees.

Kennemore assumed his duties in 1907, approximately 35 years ago, and has served continuously since that time. He has been at and about the courthouse during the terms of eleven county judges, and dozens of county commissioners.

Starting his connection with Judge C. L. Jester in 1907, all of the 11 are still living except the late Judge J. M. Blanding, who died a short time ago. After Judge Jester, Kennymore served under Judges Blanding, R. R. Owen, H. E. Traylor, A. P. Mays, Warren Hicks, Clay Nash, C. E. McWillims, Paul H. Miller, David Ralston (appointed to fill unexpired term of Miller when he entered military service), and E. D. McCormick, present county judge.

His duties include looking after the heating plant during the winters and the courthouse lawn and shrubbery during the summers, with many odd jobs at minor carpentry, plumbing, wiring and other repairs.

Kennemore began his duties in October, 1907, slightly more than a year after the present courthouse was constructed. He came to Corsicana from Purdon.

COTTON REACHED NINETEEN CENTS IN NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Nineteen-cent cotton appeared here today for the first time in more than 12 years, the October position going to 19.09 cents a pound.

Demand for contracts which sent the market to the highest levels since October, 1929, was attributed to reports that bids for purchase of government loan cotton far exceeded the January quota.

One trade circle report said bids were in excess of two million bales whereas the government could sell only 300,000 bales in January under the quota, minus exports requirement.

Food For Freedom Subject of Meeting Negro County Agents

With "Food for Freedom" the keynote of the meeting, 22 negro county agents met in Corsicana Monday together with farmers from their respective counties to discuss and plan increased production of essential crops.

Conducted by the negro branch of the extension service, the meeting was presided over by H. S. Estell, district agent from Prairie View College.

To boost the increase of these vital crops by 4-H club boys and adult farmers, these 22 counties are now enrolling every man and boy possible in a crop contest.

AMERICANISM WEEK IS BEING PLANNED BY U. S. JUNIOR CHAMBER

In an effort to make all Americans more appreciative of the freedoms they enjoy under the present democratic form of government, the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce has undertaken a national "Americanism Week" celebration to be inaugurated Feb. 12, Lincoln's birthday, and continue through Feb. 22, Washington's birthday.

Observation of Americanism Week here in Corsicana will be under the auspices of the Corsicana Junior Chamber of Commerce, directed by a special committee composed of Julius C. Jacobs, chairman; Gene Fletcher, Basil Coe, and J. C. Calloway.

Patriotic envelope stickers will be given all merchants who will then be urged to use them on all outgoing mail.

In addition, illustrated copies of the American Bill of Rights will be distributed to every school child in Navarro County while each class room in the schools will be presented with a facsmile of the letter written by President Abraham Lincoln to Mrs. Bixby who lost five sons in the War Between the States.

CORSICANA BTU TO MEET FRIDAY AT BLOOMING GROVE

A conference for all Baptist Training Union workers and members of the Corsicana Association will be held at Central Baptist Church, Blooming Grove at 2 p. m. on Friday, Jan. 23.

The afternoon session will include eight conferences for the following groups: Associational officers; adult department and union officers and members; young people's department and union officers and members; Junior and Intermediate leaders, sponsors and department officers; elementary leaders, sponsors and department officers; cradle roll, beginner and primary children; junior boys and girls and intermediate boys and girls. Other features of the afternoon will be addresses by two of the team leaders, and a presentation of the work in the association by the director, Rev. C. F. Griffin, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church of Corsicana.

During the period of intermission between 5 and 7 o'clock the various church groups will be given an opportunity to meet to set goals for their work, the associational officers will meet for half hour conference, and the entire group will be served with a picnic supper. Please bring your picnic lunch for this part of the program.

The evening session will open at 7 and will include simultaneous conferences for the eight groups listed above and an address on "Growing a Great Training Union." An award of recognition will be presented to the church having the largest percentage of the resident church membership in attendance. Rev. C. F. Griffin, director of the Training Union work of the Corsicana Baptist Association, will presdie over the meeting, and will be assisted by the chorister, Rev. Jack Goff. Conference leaders will include Dr. G. S. Hopkins of Dallas, Mrs. Hopkins, Rev. M. O. Cheek, district missionary of Waco, Dr. E. T. Miller of First Christian Church Corsicana, and two other state workers from Dallas. Similar meetings are being held this week throughout Texas. These meetings are being promoted by state training union director, Dr. T. C. Gardner and Sunday school board of Nashville, Tenn. More than 20,000 Baptists are expected to attend these meetings throughout Texas.

Anita Simpson small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Simpson of Athens is ill with pneumonia at the P. and S. Hospital.

PROPOSED AVIATION CADET NIGHT SCHOOL HAS BEEN CANCELLED

The proposed Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsored night school for prospective aviation cadets, scheduled to begin at the high school Feb. 1, was cancelled Thursday by Paul Mitchell, Jaycee president, following a request for such action from Col. C. K. Rhinehart, district recruiting officer.

Revised educational requirements for men enlisting as aviation cadets was listed as the reason for the cancellation. Those applying for flying training are now required to pass only an intelligence test.

Col. Rhinehart expressed the appreciation of the recruiting service to the Corsicana Junior Chamber of Commerce for interest shown in sponsoring the course.
